THEME

"We, the people of the United States . . ."—familiar, unforgettable words introducing the exemplar of the universe, the acme of ambition, achievement, and perfection, the Leader of Democracy.

Throughout its varied and extensive history, the United States has striven toward an ultimate goal—the democratic principle of government. How resolutely and effectively she has maintained this purpose! Neither foreign conflict nor internal strife has deterred her from her pre-determined course. She has emerged the victor, the epitome of perseverance and strength. Today America stands alone upon a pedestal of reverence and admiration, offering incentive to other nations of the world.

With the successful termination of the recent turmoil into which our nation had been thrust, the United States has once again set its sights toward new achievements—a richer and fuller democracy. The entire world is looking to America for an insight into leadership in peace and progress. As President Harry S. Truman asserts, "Such leadership requires vision, courage, and tolerance. It can be provided only by a united nation deeply devoted to the highest ideals." This calls for cooperation on the part of every American, irrespective of age or of class distinction. Leadership can be achieved and maintained only through determination and ambition.

The AITCHPE of 1946 has taken as its theme, this leadership, personified within the halls of Hyde Park High School. Here, every student has an opportunity to develop his respective qualities for service, loyalty, and leadership. The innumerable activities offered, present an outlet for all ambitions or abilities. Future achievement may be assured as a result and a realization of the responsibility of every individual for better citizenship in a better world.

Hyde Park has maintained a position of leadership since its establishment many years ago. As indicated in its emblem, it has excelled in every phase of educational attainment—in publications, in athletics and in infinite knowledge as signified by the incessant flame of the torch.

And so, to you, the leaders of Hyde Park, the future leaders of the world, we present the AITCHPE of 1946.

DEDICATION

The Aitchpe Staff respectfully dedicates this Leadership edition of the yearbook to Joseph F. Gonnelly, the distinguished principal of the Hyde Park High School

Mr. Gonnelly talks with Mr. Specht.

A serious report.

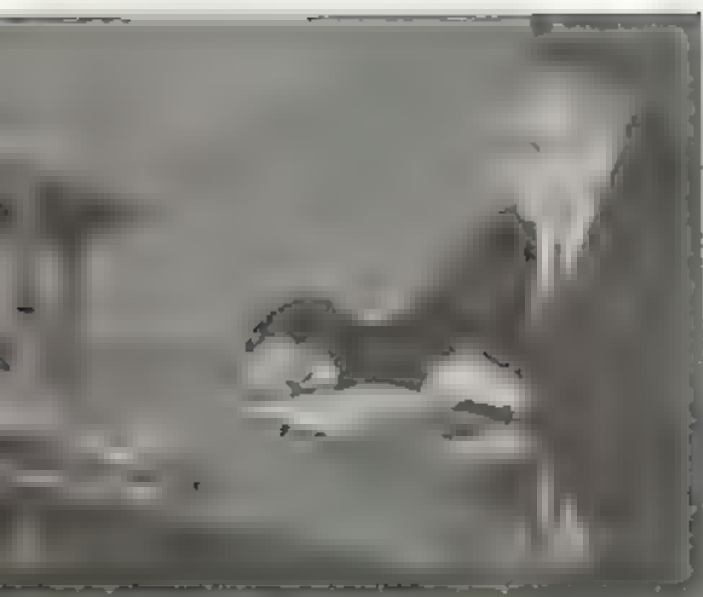

Miss Ann Buckle

MR. JOSEPH F. GONNELLY

The career of Mr. Gonnelly as a school man has certainly been varied in experience from the one-room district school of rural Indiana to the head of Hyde Park High School, Chicago. In the interim, he has acquired his training at Indiana State Teachers College and the University of Chicago and has taught in several Indiana high schools including Lane Technical High School. His ambition to advance in the field of education led him to become principal of the Chicago Public Schools and District Superintendent of the Chicago Public Schools. His work has a strong influence on the education of the Chicago Public Schools.

IN MEMORIAM

Hyde Park High School mourns the loss of three of its respected faculty members, who guided many generations of students in preparations for adult life.

Miss Laura Lawler, who obtained a Bachelor of Philosophy degree at Chicago University, with additional work at DePaul University and Chicago Teachers College, was a member of the English Department for twenty-two years.

Mr. Walter J. Hipple was a graduate of Princeton University, and subsequently studied law and history at St. Louis and Wisconsin universities. He was a member of the Social Studies and English Departments of Hyde Park for twenty-eight years.

Miss Mary Zurawski was affiliated with the Social Science Department of Hyde Park for thirty-two years. She received a Bachelor of Philosophy degree from the University of Chicago.

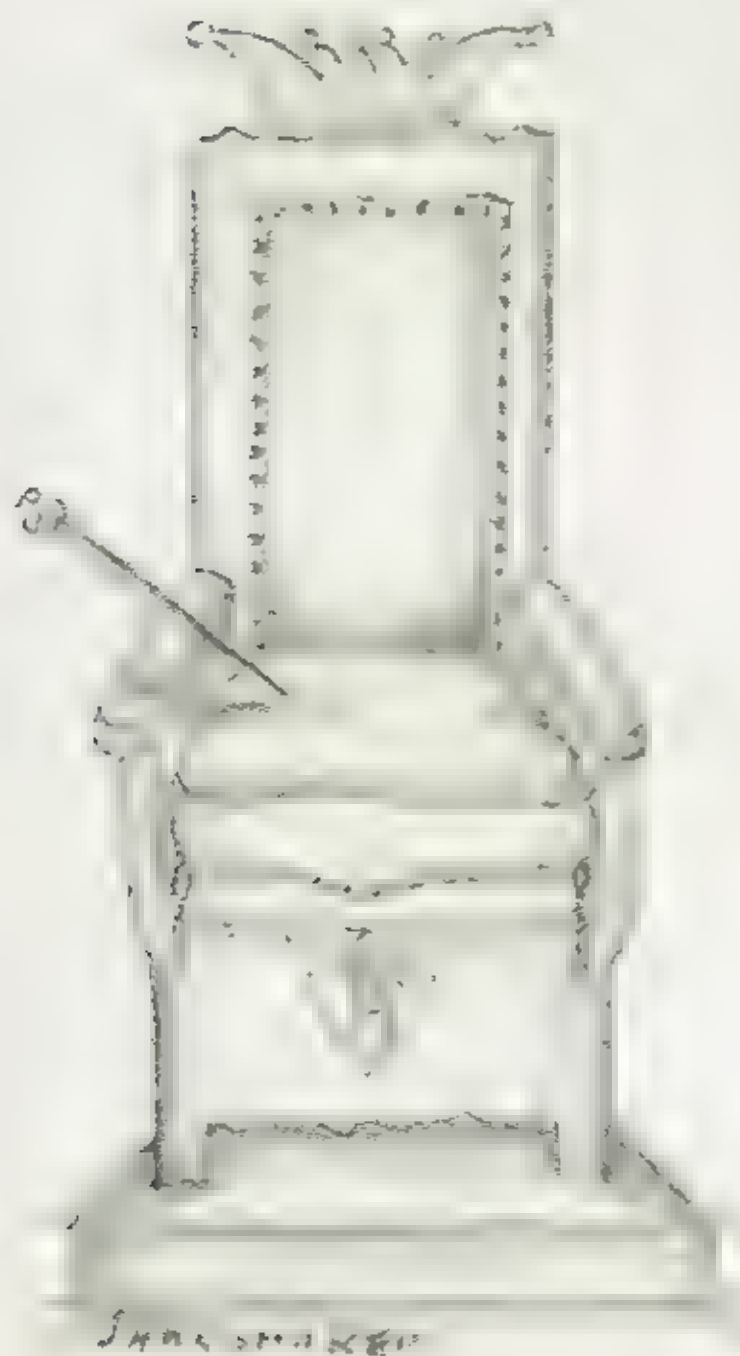

OUR MAIN ENTRANCE

AITCHPE KING

DANIEL STRIEKER

The Aitchpe King of our book this year
Is a guy that's tops with all.
He has brown hair and eyes,
And he measures six feet tall.
He's seventeen, and what a physique!
And everyone knows he can't be beat!
He wields a mean racquet—
At tennis we mean,
Just show him a court, and see him beam,
He revels in sports, but that isn't his aim
By being a doctor he'll win his fame.
He likes his music dreamy and slow
With Tommy Dorsey there to blow.
Our King likes steak for his dinner fare,
And if he's not fishing he's the first one there . . .
Bonds and brunettes are his choice for girls.
They must be intelligent and have pretty curls.
But now you've all guessed that he's a boy that's grand
So come on, give the King a rousing hand.
Hurry Hyde Parkers, the jewels do bring,
And crown our Danny the 'Aitchpe King.'

AITCHPE QUEEN

DORIS PACKTOR

The sweetest "gal" of our great school
Is the Aitchpe Queen, as is the rule.
She's five feet six, with eyes that shine
And the fellows say her figure 's fine.
Her one hundred twenty-five pounds, and light brown hair
Cou d not help but make our queen so fair.
She'll be an interior decorator if not a psychologist
And she certainly gives knitting a brand new twist.
Her heart belongs to the tall, dark males
And when cooking macaroons she never fails
Fred Waring's her favorite for dancing slow
But where there's Cary Grant she's sure to go.
She's really a doil, with a face to match
And she d rather knit than have a game of catch
But all in all as you can see
We're as proud of our 'Dorr'e" as we can be.
So come on gang, strike up the band
And greet the prettiest girl in the land
Give her the throne, and all that would seem Proper and fitting for our "Aitchpe Queen."

ADULT EDUCATION ADMINISTRATION

GJ Blumenthal

EDUCATIONAL ADMINISTRATION

Students who consider their lots a hard one have but to examine the tasks assigned to the educational administration to revise speedily their conception of hardships. If the position of minute-man or class officer is deemed exacting, compare it to the endless responsibilities which compose the places held by our principal, assistant to the principal, grade advisors, faculty and other officials.

Heading any Hyde Park roster is, of course, Mr. Joseph F. Gonnely on whose sturdy shoulders rest the cares of school affairs. His assistant, Mr. J. R. Specht, relieves him of many irksome responsibilities as head of the South Office. Other aides to lighten Mr. Gonnely's burden are the grade advisors, adjustment office workers, placement counselor, book room supervisors, attendance officers, and treasurer.

With such leadership the faculty has inspired and guided Hyde Parkers to high scholastic achievement here, and in colleges and jobs throughout the nation.

Yet, even with all their various duties, many ambitious teachers are not satisfied with simply instructing their regular classes. They assume the additional tasks of sponsoring honor classes, clubs, and other extra-curricular activities. Without the willing assistance and cooperation of the faculty, the Aitchpe entertainment groups, publication, and clubs would not be able to function. The students are grateful for the time, energy, and effort the teachers have spent in making their classes popular and their activities desired.

MR. JOSEPH F. GONNELLY

Principal

JOHN R. SPECHT

The Sixth Office is the base of operation for Mr. John R. Specht as assistant to the principal of Hyde Park, who is a man of many talents. Not the least among these is the ability of forming friendships with students, parents, and teachers. As a result he understands better their psychology and can most successfully act as mediator and advisor to them.

In his five years at Hyde Park Mr. Specht has helped in the solution of many returns to a private school problem. These have proved helpful in the efficient functioning of the school. He may always be relied on to unravel any knotty, bothersome and unappealing red tape. He is a great go-getter.

CLASSES

"Where's the elevator? Oh, gee; There's the bell and I'm late for gym again. I know that if I could just find that elevator I'd never be late." These words are uttered at some time or another by every entering freshman. But what fun would the green-bowed girls or bewildered boys have if there were no passes sold for the lunchroom or contracts signed for steam-heated lockers.

Soon all these minor nuisances which add a little worry to the life of a new student iron themselves out. Before long the shy, perplexed youngster is an arrogant sophomore whose war cry is "I'm no freshie, I'm a 2B." He has by this time concluded that high school is not a place for study but rather a small time circus where one can have a lifetime of fun.

As the junior year approaches his ideas are somewhat altered and plans are made for settling down in order to obtain E's and S's in the higher elementary sciences and mathematics. This endeavor, however, for higher scholastic standing has the elements both of work and play. Tedious study is broken up by numerous extra-curricular activities ranging from math clubs to tumblers and cheerleaders.

By the time one is entering his senior year regrets of the past and new ideals for the future are piling up. Seniors are free as the birds. They have no worries except for scholarship exams, college acceptance, Senior varieties, scholastic standings, committees, the prom, and graduation. These few extra tasks do not in any way impede the ever increasing demands for better grades.

Now the time is drawing nigh. Four years have been filled with studies, cokes, new friends, football games, and the like. Finally the day arrives, and as the fatal moment is approaching and those hectic high school days go by like a sudden flash of lightning, one thought remains foremost in that confused brain: "If I had to do it over again—I'd do it the same way. It was fun!"

1947 MID-YEAR SENIORS

Now that the struggle is just about over don't four years go by quickly? Four years of groaning over homework, coke dates, assemblies, wet hair, and Senior Varieties! All these things boil themselves down to a typical Hyde Parker's life.

As a freshman you were afloat at 'sea;' 'Where's this, where's that?—I don't know.' As a sophomore with some measure of stabilization you were sighting land. Came the junior year and you were getting set; were beaching the shore in your battered ship of learning. Hallelujah! The Seniors have landed!

Some of us will get further training for the positions we're going to occupy in life by going on to various other institutions of learning. Others will go directly into the business world. But no matter where we go we will always be setting out on some new adventure and sailing to new shores.

Remember that sea slogan—'Don't give up the ship' if you head into stormy waters. Batten down the hatches, and hang up until the 'blows' over and keep a weather-eye open for rough water.

Bon voyage—and smooth sailing!

George Moskovitz

BARBARA ADAMS,

ACTIVITIES

To live life to the fullest is the desire of every Individual. This does not necessarily mean to succeed in a professional way, but rather to find satisfaction in association with friends and neighbors and to adjust our way of life in the paths of service to society.

School life, in and out of the classroom, offers many an opportunity for such development. Then the student may, from a host of activities, pick some that appeal to him. Such groups as the I A Discussion Club keep the students well-informed on current topics, while Student Government and Boosters offer the chance for the student to develop leadership and formulate new policies for the general good. The honor clubs, library club, English tutors, and movie service club stimulate initiative. Various sports foster the spirit of friendly competition and comradeship, Sigma Epsilon encourages the student body to attain even higher scholastic standings than those held now; and the school newspaper, yearbook, orchestra, and drama clubs develop talent and encourage self-expression. The R.O.T.C. keeps the boys physically fit and accustoms them to military life, while the newly formed drum and bugle corps aids those musically inclined, military minded boys to amplify their talents. These qualities were the ones necessary in the world at war and are equally essential in the world at peace.

SIGMA EPSILON

Chef Majel Kurrie's recipe for Sigma:

Take one Hyde Parker
Stuff well with knowledge
Season generously with E's and S's

Bake or stew for four years

Yield: one honor student

Comments: Pleasing to the taste though difficult to obtain correct results. So feast ye on knowledge!

PYTHAGOREANS

Welcome welcome to the realm of the Pythagoreans! Here under the sponsorship of Mrs. Eva B. Shull the members, who have maintained at least an E average in their past three years of mathematics, prepare themselves for the Wilson Math Contest. Striving for the solution of more difficult problems of elementary math, they probe into the fundamentals of calculus. Well, friend, want to stay?

EUCLIDEANS

Delving into those supplementary math topics which are not covered in regular math classes offered in school is the work of the Junior Math Honor Club, the Euclidean. This rather informal class, under the able sponsorship of Miss von Horn "delights" in solving those "brain-teasers" which help sharpen your wits and challenge your skill.

SENIOR ENGLISH HONOR

Reading the classics, discussing current works and increasing the vocabulary does not seem like a recreation to the ordinary English student. To Mrs. Kirby's group, Senior English Honor, however, these are just several types of educational fun. Beside literature and grammar they also discuss philosophy. The boys and girls take a special delight in their visits to the various libraries to view old manuscripts.

JUNIOR ENGLISH HONOR

Calling all aspiring young actors. See Miss Myra Paine who coaches members of Junior English Honor in performing classic drama.

This club aims to convince students that classics are not only a part of the past but also a part of the present. A Cappuccino and a microphone on stage and at the "mike" add excitement and humor to the shows.

JUNIOR ENGLISH TUTORS

Many freshmen and sophomores receiving help in English, discover the value of the Junior English tutors. The success of the group depends partially upon the fact that student tutors often find points of contact with younger students where the teacher seems to have failed. Beside learning teaching procedures and gaining confidence in themselves the "teachers" also earn civic credits.

BOTANY HONOR

Mary, Mary, quite contrary, what does your garden grow? ' Bright red tomatoes and great big potatoes that won first prize at the show? No! Better join Botany Honor now.

With Miss Peebles always ready to assist, one can familiarize himself with the newest thoughts, ideas, and opportunities in the field of botany. Additional information and enlightenment is sought by visits to museums and conservatories.

A CAPPELLA

Some of the finest voices in Hyde Park are gathered together under one banner, namely the A Cappella. When one hears a group of voices blended in perfect harmony and notices that the spirit of the audience is high, he can be assured that the blue gowned boys and girls of the choir are performing.

They entertain the students at numerous events such as the Music Festivals and various assembl'es. Conducted by Mrs. Josephine Lee, the group has run up a wonderful record of achievement for themselves. They offer the opportunity to join to any student who has the talent and determination to sing.

MALE CHORUS

Here they are once more, the boys of the Male Chorus. Familiar to everyone are these boys, whose voices are tuned from the silver tones of a tenor to the throbbing baritones and the deep bass. Every year their musical interpretations are enjoyed by the entire audience. With Mrs. Ruth Curtiss' firm leadership, the melodious, masculine tones never fail to win the favor and approval of every member of the school.

The boys join for one reason only they like to sing.

MALE CHORUS: Row 3—N. Matechick, J. Stuckey, W. Rech, A. Graham, L. Epstein, D. Lindblad, V. D'Cecco, B. Belmann, G. Meagher, W. Rech, F. Pekey, G. Perparos, R. Brown. Row 2—C. Book, H. Ternoy, M. Babcock. Row 1—S. Handler, A. Gilbert, Secretary; P. Gardner, President; Miss Churchill, B. Green, Treasurer; J. Leder, I. Mourning.

GIRLS' CHORUS

"Do-ti-do, do-ti-do." The girls are working again on breath control. They also are learning the value of correct tones in connection with good harmony. The girls must cooperate in the production of the musical treats which they present at the annual minstrel shows, in Senior Varieties, and in the Spring Music Festivals. Conducted by Miss Flora Churchill, the girls win the hearts of their audience with popular songs as well as classics. Many think that being in the Girls' Chorus is hard work, but to the members, singing is fun.

GIRLS CHORUS II: Row 3—G. Morris, A. Pick, R. Chroman, D. Klamko, D. Leshner, A. Edelman, S. Chiappettia, J. Babb, J. Benjamin, F. Fukuda, E. Wolf. Row 2—E. Berg, J. Bivens, S. Rose, M. Karman, S. ## BAND

Yes, "the drums they bang and the cymbals clang and the horns they blare," but it's not McNamara's band. This group of musically inclined Hyde Parkers is conducted by Captain Joseph Fagan. They afford much of the musical entertainment at assemblies and football games, and until the formation of the Drum and Bugle Corps furnished the background for Federal Inspection and the annual R.O.T.C. parade.

ORCHESTRA

To the entering musician Hyde Park offers a wide variety of potential orchestra experience. For the beginner, an elementary instruments class; for the average player, the Junior Orchestra; and for the advanced musician, the Senior Orchestra. With Miss Katherine Finley conducting, the senior group provides some of Hyde Park's finest musical entertainment while preparing for the annual city-wide orchestra contest.

1A DISCUSSION CLUB

In order to give our 1A pupils an opportunity to express their opinions on various subjects, to ask questions, and to learn informally something about the views of their teachers and the value of their school, the 1A Discussion Club was organized. The members meet on alternate Saturday evenings in Mrs. Randall's apartment. Sometimes articles of general interest and stories are read. Refreshments combine to make the evening a social event. Such organizations are of great value to bridge the differences between teacher and pupil and to create better understanding, greater tolerance, and wider sympathy for all. It is to be hoped that more clubs will be formed in the future.

RADIO GUILD

Acting, diction, stage presence, and vocal agility are all the fine points of acting which are put into practice in auditions and mock broadcasts by the members of the Radio Guild. These eager fellows and girls while enjoying themselves in an extra-curricular activity are also preparing themselves for an interesting profession and are developing their talents of self-expression. They have already won a trophy.

BLUE MASK

"You're on!" is a familiar call to action for members of Blue Mask. Those students learn the principles of acting and are their own ticket salesmen, prop haulers, and costume fitters. Directed by Miss Edith Hardy, the combined forces of English 7D and 8D, which comprise the company have presented Hyde Park with some of its most enjoyable and profitable hours.

AITCHPE

Dear Reader:

After plowing through a pile of unsorted photographs, a stack of papers, and a pile of scribbled notes, the Aitchpe staff emerges tired, but happy, with your year-book. This procedure has been repeated every year since the annual was first printed in 1893.

In this annual you will find pictures of friends and the activities in which they participate. The staff hopes you will find yourselves in memories associated with high school days. This is your book, your record of achievement and fun; we hope you like it.

Best Wishes!

WEEKLY

For many years it has been published. Edited by the students, it is representative of them and is their voice in school affairs. On each of the pages can be found the interesting and eagerly sought information about extra curricular activities, social life and athletic events in the school. The Weekly reports on festivals, sports, and other student activities. Bond and scrap drives also receive the paper's enthusiastic support. Many of these activities probably would not have succeeded if it had not been for the influence of the Weekly.

BOOSTERS

Hail to the Boosters! Activating school organizations, sports, and fostering school spirit, they are the heart and soul of drives like the Thanksgiving Fund and the Red Cross Fund. As the public relations and liaison officers of the division rooms, they meet every Monday to discuss the betterment of Hyde Park.

FILM SERVICE CLUB

The whirring of the projector denotes a familiar group of people. The Film Service Club members are at it again, showing Hyde Park's citizens the latest in bugs, bacteria, and bluebells. With Miss Mary Howard for an instructor they learn to operate various types of cameras. They work so that we may better understand the mysteries of the scientific and historic worlds.

DEWEY LIBRARY

Quietly entering the realm of the Hyde Park library one is cheerfully greeted by the boys and girls who act as librarians. It is the privilege of these pupils to serve teachers and students alike while preparing themselves for positions in the city libraries. Assisting in the school library also acquaints the aides with their chief source of reference, affords them an opportunity for meeting students, developing poise, accuracy and a business-like attitude, and is a stepping stone toward attaining their civic award letters.

SENIOR SPONSORS

In the event of the absence of the regular class teacher, Miss Kuehn's "Johnnie-on-the Spots," the Senior Sponsors, take over the job of assisting and instructing the class. Others in the group confer positions in the South Office, attendance and North Office. The lot of the members is not always an easy one, for they must be ready to serve at any time.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Anyone having a good scholastic standing can compete for an office in student government. Learning the 'in's and out's' of governmental procedure under Miss Ruth Stoke is a lot of fun and instructive too. The club is promoting the foundation of Teen-Age Canteens and activities as the 4B-4A parties and class elections in

P. T. A.

Taking the general theme 'So this is Hyde Park' for development this year, the Parent Teachers Association has continued its policy of constructive work. Under its president, Mrs. M. Shaw, the group learned a great deal of the theory as well as the practice of classroom work. It has also endeavored to bring a little nearer the ideal world founded on the principle of human brotherhood and to keep the faith bequeathed to this and future generations by hardy forefathers.

Varsity Mothers

Leave it to Coach Hasan to sponsor a fine group like Varsity Mothers. These grand lassies are Hyde Park's team-saving glamour gals. One of the big events of the year on their calendar is the fathers and sons' dinner. Of course, the mother's day basketball game and the annual card party at the Plaisance Hotel are other items of interest on the agenda.

COACHES

Coaches—think of that word for a moment. Most people think that a coach is an ogre who makes you stand up and do strange exercises which you think are unnecessary. Those of you that have this idea, please—think again.

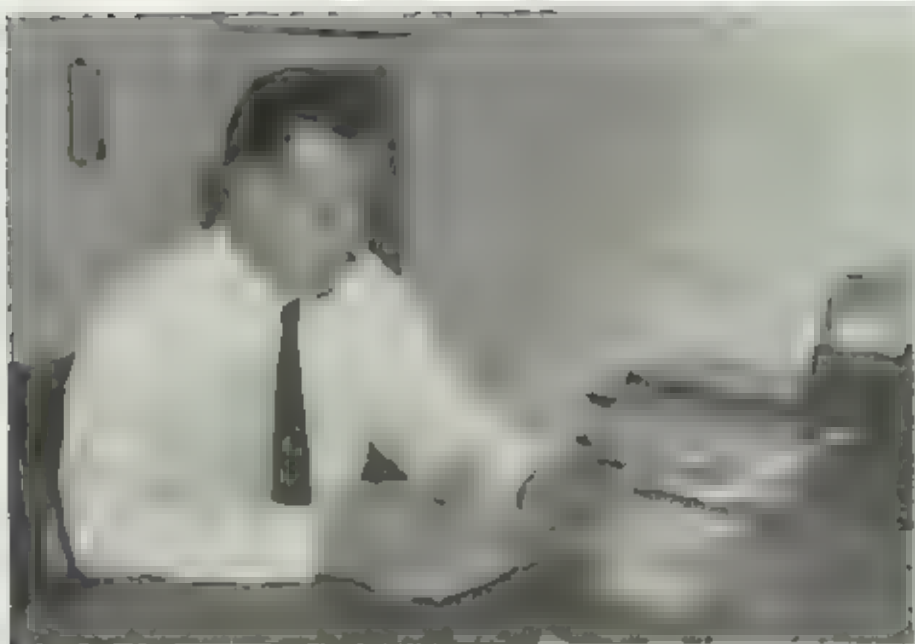

It isn't often that the coaches of the school's teams, such as basketball, tennis, track, and football are ever mentioned or praised. You might say that they are the men behind the heroes . . . Yes, few heroes would ever gain their titles if it were not for the untiring efforts of the coach.

Here at Hyde Park, we usually have a pretty good football team. How do we get that team? Do a bunch of fellows go out and decide they are going to play football, and immediately proceed to beat some other school's expert team? Of course not . . . First there has to be a coach . . . Then, and only then do the players come in. They might not be 250 pounders, but the coach will find out their good points and strengthen these, while teaching them new tactics. After many hard weeks of practice, and many weeks of coaching, we have the finest organization of a school. A group of boys who know how to win and lose; fight without a sense of maliciousness; and a group of fellows who can say that they know the meaning of Sportsmanship.

It is the same in all other teams. Hard work on the part of the coaches, and long practice of what the coaches teach on the part of the boys. Yes it can safely be said, that there would be no basketball or football heroes without the aid of mighty good coaches . . .

JUNIOR BASKETBALL

Hyde Park's junior basketeers returned from the "wars" in fine style, for the fourth successive year reaching the city playoffs! The Indians made short work of Calumet, Englewood, Hirsch, and Morgan Park, their first four league opponents, to average 47 points per game and share first place with Parker.

Fenger put the Indians out of the undefeated class 41-32 while South Shore took advantage of their home court to defeat the still groggy Tribesmen 60-37. Under the captaincy of Mike Greig Harper and Vocational fell easy victims to Hyde Park's second place surge.

Undefeated Parker left Hyde Park with just that status, despite the most hard fought game our juniors played all season, winning 43-25. The Tribesmen took bitter revenge on Bowen 53-32 to capture third place in the section and enter the playoffs.

After three periods Hyde Park led Gage Park 29-26, only to lose 38-35 as the Owls poured in twelve points in the final period.

SENIOR BASKETBALL

The Indian seniors fell far short of chalking up an impressive league record, but can claim the title of the section's spunkiest quintet with a clear conscience. Fresh in the minds of most fans are the fierce second half rallies, which netted them victories over Morgan Park and Harper but marked them as a dangerous, high scoring team.

Fifteen missed charity tosses meant the difference in the Fenger game, from which, the Titans emerged an overtime victor. Englewood, also barely escaped with their scalp, managing to salvage an early eight point lead. These four league games and their successful practice schedule are probably the only pleasant memories left for our 1946 seniors.

BASEBALL

Gone are many of the Aitchpe baseball stalwarts of last year. No longer do Lieb, Dellefield or Marko roam the vast expanses of the Hyde Park home diamond. Yet the Blue and White squad is not at a loss for their places have been ably filled.

The ranks of Coach Henry Schultz' nine were crowded with an abundance of new talent. Not for many years previous had such a large yet promising squad reported for one of the schools most interesting sports. How well the coaches of the south side knew that the strength of the section lay at 62nd and Stony!

It was the team's many fans and admirers that first realized that Hyde Park harbored a team that was one of the strongest in the city. And so it was. Many a coach has received more than his share of gray hair from struggles with this year's Blue and White baseball aggregation.

Before one can fully utilize the knowledge gained in his lifetime, he must have the athletic prowess to withstand the ordinary terrific pace of the modern world. The body must be simultaneously developed with the mind to make a well balanced individual with the characteristics of endurance, courage, and stamina needed to meet the demands of life. The lettermen's club, a unique organization, composed of Hyde Parkers who have earned a major letter in sports, go in for the mean type of fun needed to help build a better nation.

See those girls over there- Wonder what makes their cheeks so rosy, why their lips are so pink? Why, the Girls Athletic Association of course! These are the girls who spend every free period in the gym. They are veterans of the rings, ladders, and parallel bars. They know how to pivot, pass and make the basket; pick the ball out of the net; return that ping pong ball with a slam.

The girls work constantly, gathering points, to hit that 1,000 mark, and when they reach their El Dorado, they are in heaven. They can sport those blue and white letters on their new sweaters. My, how proud they are!

R. O. T. C.

At the end of the First World War, Congress realized that we did not have enough trained officers and that they must be trained in peace and in sufficiently large numbers.

For this reason it passed the National Defense Act of 1920. Among other things, this act provides funds for the training of officers in sufficient numbers to form a reserve which would be available in time of war. The war department is in charge of the training and disburses the funds. Instructors also must be provided by the war department. The Act also specifies that these units be maintained in civil educational institutions. The Corps is divided into two divisions, senior for approved colleges and universities and junior for secondary and high schools.

The mission of the R. O. T. C. is to make leaders not only in war, but also in peace. But its primary purpose is to produce officers for those parts of the army which are limited in the number of officers they can train in comparison with the number they need.

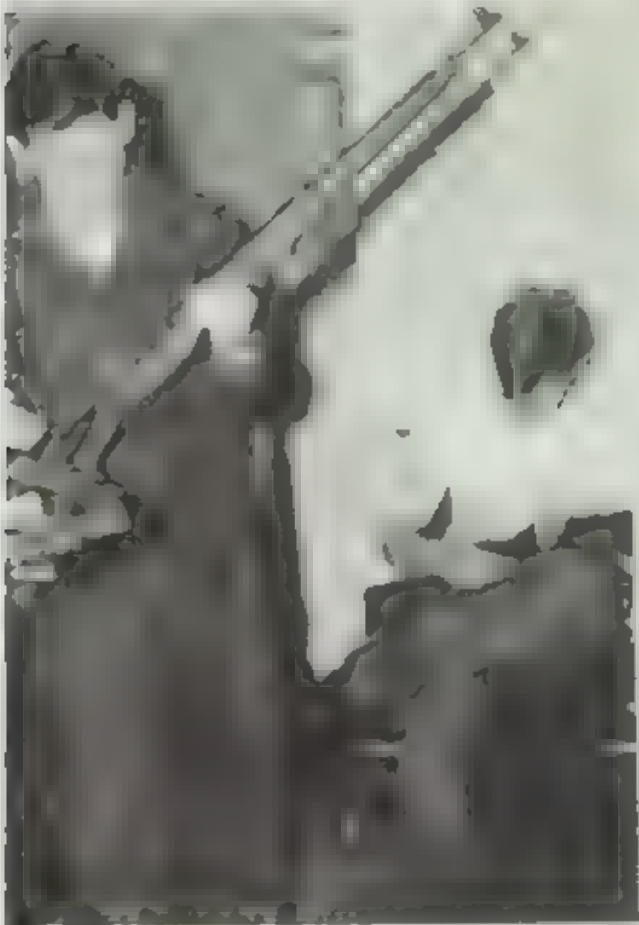

As applied to Hyde Park, the act was not the beginning of the R. O. In 1918 it was seen fit to start a cadet corps to train the male students to be better soldiers in "The Great War." The Board of Education had to pay for this program as the War Department had not been authorized to do so. When the National Defense Act of 1920 was passed, Hyde Park turned over its cadet corps and made a R. O. unit out of it.

Before he has finished giving his buttons and shoes the last once-over, the cruel first sergeant makes him fall in. After some little practice he learns to perform this feat in ten seconds or less, preferably less; and, he does it at the expense of some other cadet's toe.

When his squad leader reports him absent during roll-call he seems mystified and tries to set him right; but, if a non-com claims that a cadet is not there, well, he is not there!

Also the officer was not supposed to find those buttons that were pinned on instead of having been sewn. Gosh, how did they know? Anyway, what's another "D?"

Of course when he finds that his company wins application of the fire power of a group. In other words rifle-mansmanship teaches him to hold a rifle, to take care of it, and to aim in the correct manner. Moreover, take over here and teach the soldier how to use his rifle and to fire and how to effectively deliver his shots.

The speaker has a good doubt that may well be the mean center or at least a good one. Since this is not merely a matter of taking steps across and attaching them to his uniform, he must get busy and learn his lessons well. He must just attend morning lectures, hand in notebooks and read corrections, and make sure that his conduct is that befitting an officer and a gentleman. Once he has complied with these requirements he must wait for an opening in the line which is the title of organization. When this vacancy occurs and the position enough in the promotion list the cadet will, perhaps, finally be promoted.

PICKED PLATOON

The 1946 picked platoon was the result of weeks of getting up during the early hours of the morning, practicing close-order and rifle drill while half asleep. Since it is no easy feat to get up at six o'clock in the morning, it was all the more noteworthy to find that thirty of Hyde Park's best came every day, rain or shine. When the group entered the annual competition last March 30, it did remarkably well.

DRUM AND BUGLE CORPS

The drum and bugle corps, in spite of its newness is one of the best in the city. Since there was no equipment for the corps and no funds with which to buy the necessary items, the members of this group, under the sponsorship of Sergeant Hartman, presented several shows in order to raise funds for drums and bugles. The fact that the corps is now fully equipped speaks for the success of these drives. The corps performed during assemblies, Federal Inspection, and at parades.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Everyone has at one time or another wondered what makes a clock tick, but how many have stopped to think about what makes the school tick? Furnaces to be fired, students to be fed, halls to be swept, locker rooms to be cleaned. Who is responsible for attending to these tasks? The men and women of the business administration, of course.

The lunchroom, for instance, is carefully and expertly managed by Mrs. M. Cassel. She and her staff of assistants see to it that the school cafeteria serves wholesome food to furnish energy for eager, growing boys and girls.

Then think for a moment — how long would students be able to endure the cold if there were no firemen to fire the furnaces, or how long could one wade on through the drift of paper that would accumulate in the halls if the janitors were to leave? Mr. Clark and his proteges are responsible for keeping Hyde Parkers warm and clean.

And now together, "Hip, hip, hooray," for the custodians; they are an efficient group of people.

LUNCH ROOM

Hundreds of hungry people pouring into the lunchroom four periods a day keep the staff constantly hurrying back and forth as they attend to such minor duties as washing dishes, cleaning the tables, and placing the chairs. To all these tasks is added the more important one of preparing the food. Mrs. Cassel and her aides are continuously using their time, energy, and skill to provide us with wholesome and eye-appealing food.

Most people, in signing an letter, make it seem like a "parting of the way."
But, I sign yours to complete the beginning of a beautiful friendship.
I send it with love
to you.

Fathie. - May the rest of every day be as good as this.

Love
